

-
-

Log In

Sign Up For Free!

MPU2322 J20 Online Final Exam (copy 1)

Created by: Raymond Lee Yeong Yeow

Instructions: There will be TWO types of questions: MCQ questions and "Fill in the blanks" questions. Part A – 30 MCQ questions (30 marks) Part B – 5 "fill in the blanks" (70 marks) You will have 120 minutes to complete and submit the exam.

• 31.Fill in blank

Points: 12

There are six human characteristics which will produce quality virtuous individuals namely: _____ motivation, feeling of guilt and _____, believed _____, admiration and _____, special _____ and believed in justification whereby very much related to _____ as a based to express out the attributes of the high virtues.

• 32.Fill in blank

Points: 14

The Teleological Theory

The teleological theory states that whether a value is 'right' or 'wrong' depends on the final _____ of an action. This means that an action has to be done if it brings greater _____ than _____ according to the relevant regulations.

One of the good examples of teleological theory is _____. This theory states that actions are right if they are useful or for the greatest _____ of the greatest number of _____; For instance, the bombing of Hiroshima was aimed at the ending of the world war which had caused untold suffering. Anyway, it would be difficult to see how a _____ utilitarian can be sure that a rule can really be established to cover differences among human beings and situations.

• 33.Fill in blank

Points: 18

Generally we can categorize ethics into three dimensions. Firstly, there is moral _____, which is the ability to _____ and judge _____; in other words, it is about being free, normative, accurate, sharp, creative, innovative and critical in your analysis of an ethical issue. The next one is moral _____, which is to have proper _____ like conscience and sensitivity over what is _____; this dimension produces sympathy, empathy, generosity, love, compassion and others, all of which are motivated by what is altruistic and correct. With both these dimensions in place, the third one, namely, moral _____, will take place: the ability to conduct oneself in a manner that is morally correct, that is, the ability to _____ in a fully responsible way, to be dedicated, caring, and cooperative, according to one's ability, in making _____ based on the first two dimensions.

• 34.Fill in blank

Points: 14

In the ethical teaching of Christianity, there is the element injunction that you should _____ your enemies, which means to let your enemies take advantage of you. You, do not resist an _____ person but, _____ those who curse you and even _____ those who do evil to you.

There is also another element called _____ as in the following verse "There is no greater love than this, that a man lays down his _____ for his friend" and to give with no expectation of _____.

• 35.Fill in blank

Points: 12

BULLYING

In Malaysia, a few bullying cases popped up on YouTube and later on Facebook. The clips showed school students bullying their fellow students in school.

There are many factors that bring about bullying such as the bullies feeling _____ in their own lives, which then leads to bullying others. It can be regarded as a way to claim a sort of power in their own lives, namely, by victimizing another person or putting other people in misery.

For some, it is a way of channelling their anger because they were subjected to bullying themselves. So, they simply repeat the bad behavior towards others whom they see to be _____ than themselves and easy victims or targets.

A third explanation is that bullies may act out of _____ and they have no idea how to channel those feeling accordingly besides bullying others.

Other bullies have a _____ against a person's race, religion, gender or even sexual orientation, and in many instances, they may even think that targeting a person whom they see as exuding wrong behavior as a good thing.

Some would never think of themselves as _____. They think that all they are doing is teasing a bit, and may even be trying to communicate or even be friends with the person they are bullying.

Finally, the _____ situation of the person who bullies others can also be a contributing factor for such ill behavior to take place. Lack of emotional support, authoritarian parenting, divorces, domestic violence and poor parental communication are all potential factors in the lives of bullies